best at what they do, but only The Blind Side Home Furnishings of Verona can say it with confidence. You'll be amazed at what you find here.

"It is more than just selling people furniture and fixtures," said Diane Laskoski, co-owner and senior designer of The Blind Side Home Furnishings. "Along with my husband Jerry and our entire staff, we work to develop lifelong relationships with our customers in order to help make their homes both beautiful and functional."

The Blind Side Home Furnishings is a national-award-winning design studio with one of the most experienced staffs you'll find anywhere. For years they've been bringing breathtaking, affordable design not only to the Pittsburgh area, but also to satisfied customers all across the country.

The Blind Side's studio and library offers the most unique collection of home furnishings and accessories available in the tri-state area. This is no ordinary furniture store. The Blind Side's magnificent studio features stunning finishes for the home that you won't find anywhere else.

"We've been blessed over the years to have been able to work with some incredible clients, both homeowners and business owners," said Laskoski. "They are the ones who have let us spread our artistic wings and enabled us to give them some award-winning designs. We take great pride in making homes and businesses as beautiful as they are useful."

The trained design experts at The Blind Side take a one-on-one approach to make sure the creative concepts discussed for your project become a reality. If you're looking for product procurement, project management and total premier installation you've chosen the correct team.

Our talented team of design professionals and staff are committed to excellence in all areas of our business. We will execute your project from concept to completion with the end result being interiors that exceed your expectations.

The talented group of designers at The Blind Side can provide services for both businesses and homes alike. They also have the capability of providing their services at various locations no matter in which state the job is located.

"We have many clients who use our services in all of their homes," added Laskoski. "Some have three or four homes and work with our team to ensure each home is as unique, beautiful and functional. We strive to make sure each home is extremely livable."

You can trust The Blind Side to always pay great attention to detail in order to create timeless, distinctive interiors for your home and/or business. The professionals at The Blind Side work with you closely so that they are in tune with your unique vision. Working together as a highly qualified project team, their designers are dedicated to meeting every client's individual budgetary and schedule constraints, while at the same time making a distinctive, one-of-a-kind design statement.

"Interior design is more than just providing product and making something look nice," said Laskoski. "When you spend the time to get to know someone, you can help create incredible layouts that are a direct reflection of someone's personality. To do that correctly takes building a relationship and getting to know that person. That is what we do!"

The Blind Side team's mastery of interior design is intangible; yet it comes alive with the unequivocal commitment and relentless pursuit of only the finest art imaginable. The Blind Side is committed to what they promise and accountable to what they advocate. Best of all, they are distinctive in how they deliver it.

The interior designers at The Blind Side Home Furnishings of Verona are ready to share in your vision of the future. Call them today to arrange a special consultation or to view their award-winning showroom.
